

Velkommen til gjesteforelesning om feedback på studenttekster

ved Karen J. Lunsford,
University of California, Santa Barbara

ILS og KiS inviterer til en spennende gjesteforelesning om studenters skriving og måter studenttekster blir kommentert på.

Karen J. Lunsford er Associate Professor of Writing ved UCSB, der hun underviser i scientific and technical writing. Hun introduserer forelesningen slik:

Written Feedback: A Survey of Current U.S. Practices

This talk will report on two research projects regarding written feedback on students' papers. The first project compares teachers' practices today with those of 25 years ago: which practices have remained and which have changed? The second project involves an electronic system developed in the sciences to coordinate students' feedback to each other - a system called Calibrated Peer Review. Together, the two projects provide a snapshot of current feedback practices in the U.S.
